

Greetings,

It's all new: the actuvview platform, the actuvview newsletter, and a lot of video content.

We are proud to present to you the all-new and improved actuvview, now with more features for users and partners alike. When you visit www.actuvview.com you'll find a completely revised streaming platform. Take a look! Your accounts with your CPD history have been transferred; you just have to set a new password.

Our newsletter has also received a face-lift to present all the exciting news from the actu-world in a fresh and easy-to-read design. Use the quick links to find the latest partner content, upcoming events, news from the community, and much more. Enjoy reading!

News from actuvview

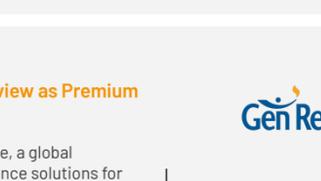

General

The new actuvview is online – here is what you need to know

The actuvview platform was relaunched this week. You will now find myriad new and upgraded features and improved services, including an enhanced search engine and detailed CPD documentation. Learn all about the opportunities and benefits the new platform gives you in this list of features and in this brief video.

All actuvview services have been online during the relaunch process, and your accounts have been transferred so that you can continue using actuvview without any interruptions. When entering the new platform, you just have to set a new password for your existing account and confirm your acceptance of the updated Terms & Conditions. Please review the mailing you received yesterday for a quick description of how to enter the new actuvview. If you have any problems, please make sure your browser's cache has been deleted or try with another browser. If you have any questions or trouble resetting your password, please contact us via contact@actuvview.com.

Because of high traffic the platform might be a little slower than usual, but we are working on improving the performance at the moment. We are very happy about the high demand for our service and do everything we can to give you the best user experience!
