RGA brings awareness to suicide prevention and mental health improvement

According to the World Health Organization, suicide is among the leading causes of death worldwide, with more than one in every 100 deaths (1.3%) in 2019 a result of suicide. In the coming months, RGA will delve into this important industry (and global) topic, increasing awareness and visibility to mental health resources and uncovering new avenues toward prevention and support. Be sure to follow RGA on LinkedIn and join in the conversation with #suicidepreventionawareness.

As part of its Convention A content, RGA has produced a video that uses data to bring awareness to suicide. Be sure to check out "A Global View on Suicide: Data, trends, and risk factors," with Erin Crump, Vice President of Business Initiatives, and Scott Rushing, VP and Actuary, Head of Data Insights, on Convention A, launching September 22.

2022 Actuarial Colloquia

The actuarial field related to non-life insurance and the financial industry continues to evolve, making it vital for professionals from around the world to share ideas that lead to innovations and improvements. In the spirit of pushing ideas forward, the International Actuarial Association (IAA) and the Casualty Actuarial Society (CAS) presented the 2022 Actuarial Colloquia, which comprises the AFIR-ERM (Finance, Investment & Enterprise Risk Management) and ASTIN (Non-Life Insurance) Sections. These colloquia brought together the best actuarial researchers and practitioners, along with their papers exhibiting the latest actuarial and scientific techniques.

The recordings of these two high-ranking plenary sessions and all specialist presentations are now online on actuview.

Welcome to the Moldovan actuaries

Moldova has a small community of actuarial experts who are striving for continuous development in their professional practice and fruitful exchange with other actuaries from Europe and beyond. We are happy to have them in our actuview community to support them in their mission.

"The Moldovan Actuarial Association is extremely pleased to be part of the actuview platform," said Oleg Verejan, President of the Actuarial Association of Moldova. "The information provided by the platform will be extremely useful for strengthening the actuarial profession, especially during the period when the Republic of Moldova is in the process of implementing the Solvency II Directive and applying the IFRS 17 standard."

Oleg Verejan, President of the Actuarial Association of Moldova
